

Duck Creek Technologies + OnBase: 5 Reasons to integrate

Integrating Duck Creek with OnBase enterprise content management (ECM), carriers unleash the full potential of their technology investments.

1 Be more productive in Duck Creek Technologies

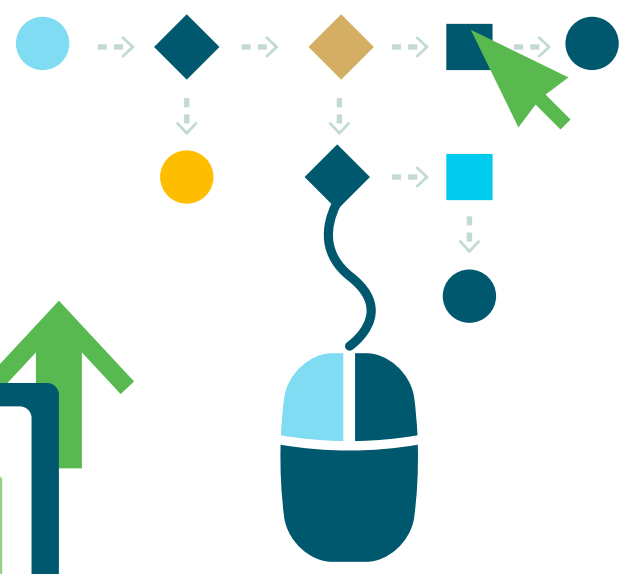

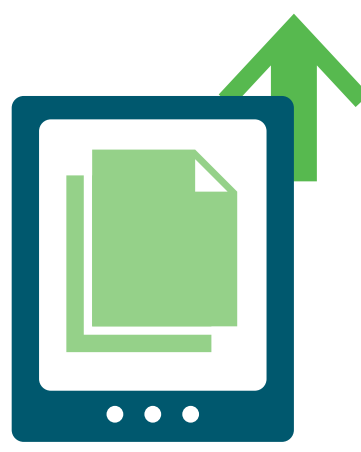

With OnBase, users access critical underwriting, policy and claims documents without leaving their familiar Duck Creek interfaces. No more searching between systems. You process claims faster and make more informed underwriting decisions.

2 Enjoy the full benefits of OnBase ECM

It's more than just accessing documents. It's about gaining the complete ECM capabilities OnBase provides – from capture technology and records management to process-improving workflows and case management solutions. By integrating with OnBase, you immediately begin optimizing your processes.

3 Keep agents and brokers happy

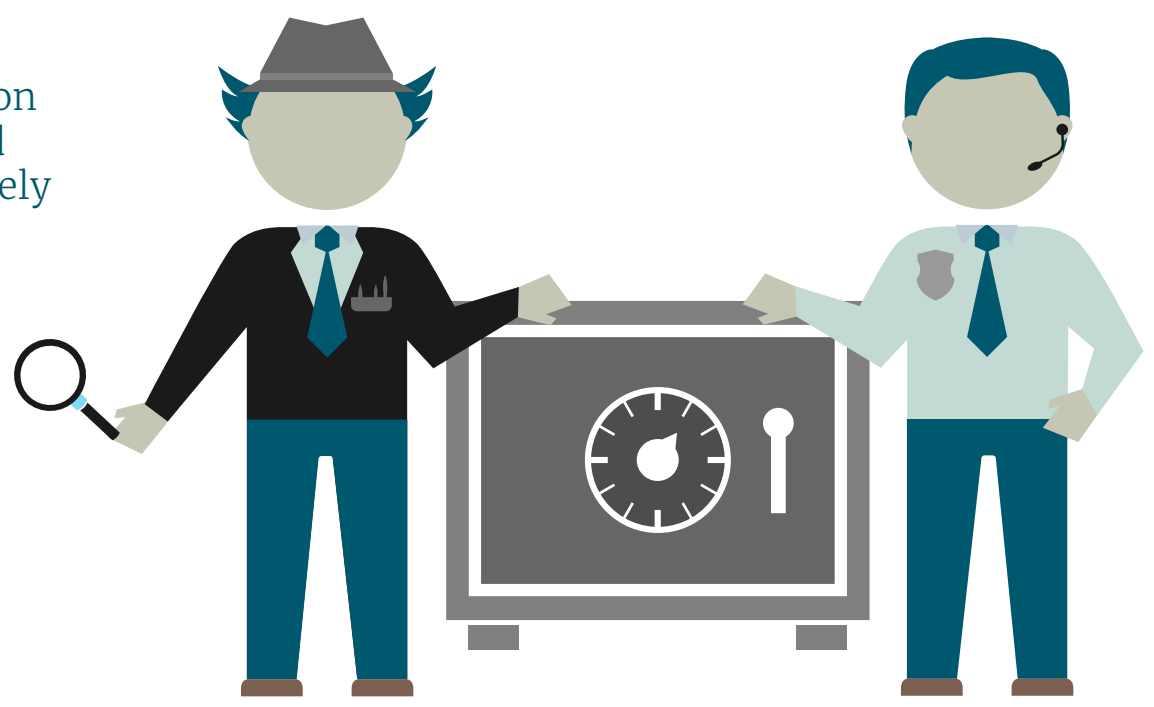

Provide agents with a secure, self-service portal that allows them to submit applications, access relevant documentation and participate in processes.

4 Improve security and compliance

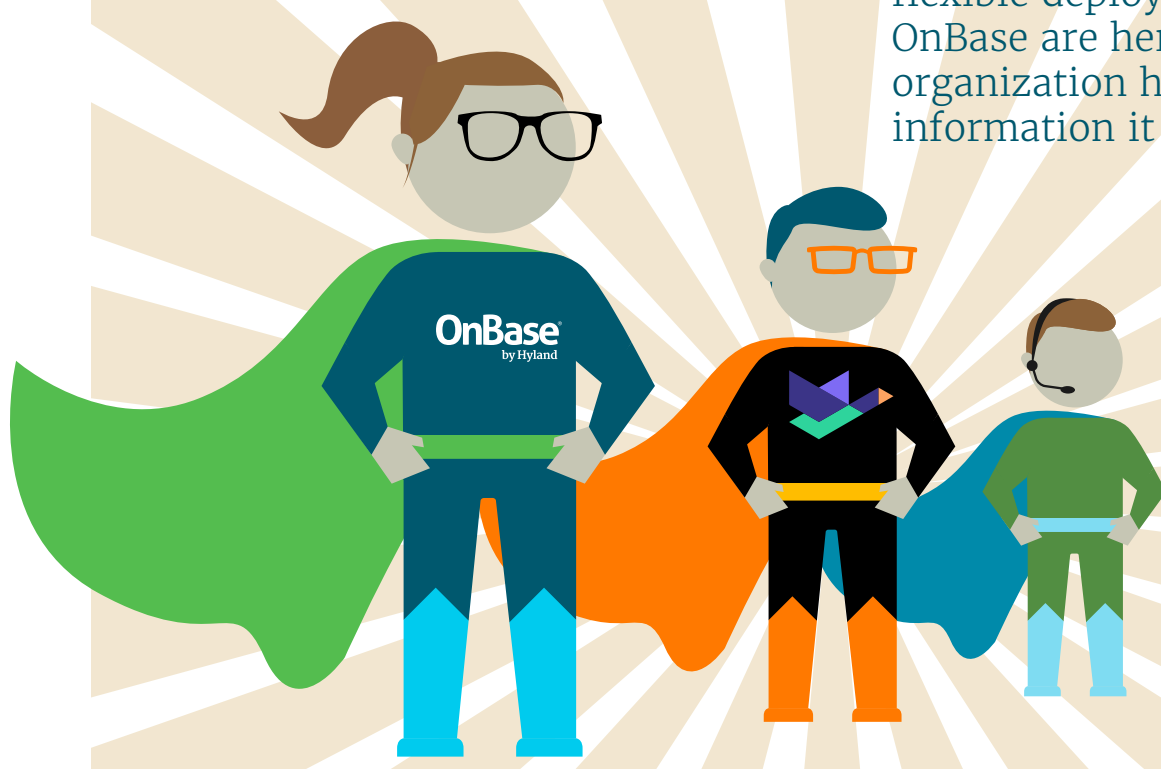

By tracking revision histories, managing retention periods and providing controlled access to all critical documents, OnBase keeps your information secure.

With automated document retention and audit trails that detail who did what, when and why, you proactively deal with compliance issues and make audits stress free.

5 Tap expert advice

You're not just combining two powerful solutions, you're tapping into the expertise of a unified team with decades of experience helping insurers succeed around the globe. From consulting and services engagements to flexible deployment options, Duck Creek and OnBase are here to make sure your organization has easy access to the information it needs to succeed.
