

Hyland Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement

Fiscal Year 2021

Modern slavery is a crime and a gross violation of fundamental human rights. It takes various forms, all of which have in common the deprivation of a person's liberty by another in order to exploit them for personal or commercial gain.

Hyland has a zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery and is fully committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking in our corporate activities. We are also committed to ensuring there is transparency in our own business and in our approach to tackling modern slavery throughout our supply chains, consistent with our disclosure obligations under the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015 and the Commonwealth's Modern Slavery Act 2018.

Hyland only engages with resellers, partners, contractors and vendors who demonstrate a serious commitment to the health and safety of their workers, and operate in compliance with all human rights laws.

This statement sets out Hyland's actions to understand all potential modern slavery risks related to business and to ensure steps are maintained to prevent slavery and human trafficking.

Our Supply Chains and Supplier Adherence to Our Core Values

Hyland's Sourcing Department actively seeks out, develops and attempts to build significant vendor relationships with Small Disadvantaged Businesses, Women-Owned Small Businesses, Veteran-Owned Small Businesses, including Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses and HUB-Zone Small Businesses, and LGBTQ-Owned Businesses to ensure full and equitable opportunities when procuring goods and services.

Hyland's Sourcing Department manages and works with all of Hyland's suppliers which provides the ability for Hyland to have a dedicated team to manage Hyland's supplier relationships and ensure compliance by its suppliers with Hyland's Core Values and other applicable policies, such as Hyland's Code of Business Conduct and Ethics and Supply Chain Transparency Policy.

To date Hyland has not been made aware of any human trafficking or slavery activities within Hyland's supply chain. To the extent any such claimed activity is reported to or discovered by us, we would act immediately in accordance with our legal and moral obligations.

Our Policies on Slavery and Human Trafficking

We are committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business. Our Supply Chain Transparency Policy reflects our commitment to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business relationships to ensure slavery and human trafficking is not taking place anywhere in our supply chains. Hyland is constantly working on improving its processes to that effect.

New vendors shall agree to and certify compliance with all applicable human rights laws, environmental laws and worker safety laws, including all such laws related to slave labor and human trafficking such as the UK Modern Slavery Act and the Commonwealth's Modern Slavery Act 2018. New vendors must certify to follow Hyland requirements with regard to Anti-Slavery and Human Trafficking. Hyland will not conduct business with any new vendors who refuse to comply.

Due Diligence Processes for Slavery and Human Trafficking

As part of our initiative to identify and mitigate risk with respect to suppliers, Hyland has a dedicated sourcing department, which among other things:

- Leverages, maintains and updates a vendor management system used to manage our vendor relationships, including our suppliers.
- Performs due diligence, as applicable, on new suppliers as part of Hyland's supplier pre-qualification process, which includes supplier completion of questionnaires relating to supplier corporate information, performance, and compliance to establish that suppliers adhere to Hyland's standards, complies with applicable laws and are a suitable supplier.

- Requires vendor and suppliers to provide compliance certifications, including anti-slavery and human trafficking compliance certifications through Hyland’s vendor management solution.
- Continually identifies and assesses potential risk areas when considering taking on new suppliers and regularly reviews our existing supply chains and policies to ensure and improve compliance.
- Continually updates and improves supply chain management processes to reduce risk.
- Includes language in contracts to address compliance with applicable laws, rules and regulations, where appropriate.
- Understands their obligations to speak-up and seek guidance regarding any misconduct or non-compliance by any employee or supplier and the various reporting avenues Hyland makes available to all of its employees to do so; including Hyland’s Integrity Portal, where employees can submit their concerns via website or phone 24 hours a day 7 days a week and is managed by an independent third party.

Assessing the Effectiveness of Our Actions

Hyland is conscious that implementing policies and imposing compliance and reporting obligations on suppliers alone does not eradicate modern slavery risks from its operations and supply chains. As such, monitoring the effectiveness of our actions is key to assessing progress in addressing modern slavery risks.

For our supply chain partners, we will look at strengthening remediation actions and assessing effectiveness by engaging more closely with high-risk suppliers which are identified through our due diligence process. Further, our Speak-Up policy and use and availability of Hyland’s Integrity Portal aims to enable staff members and other stakeholders to raise their concerns about behavior that may not comply with applicable standards or legal and regulatory requirements, while also allowing Hyland to log and track ethical violations and compare that to its due diligence results.

Training

In addition to Hyland’s Core Values and other Hyland policies, such as Hyland’s Code of Business Conduct & Ethics and Supply Chain Transparency Policy, Hyland is continually assessing additional training/learning for our Sourcing Department and applicable employees specifically geared toward slavery and human trafficking to further mitigate such risks in Hyland’s supply chain.
